Presidential Changes Announced

Dr. Paul K. Vonk to Become New Oglethorpe President

DR. PAUL KENNETH VONK has been named President of Oglethorpe College.

Assuming his duties on June 1, Dr. Vonk becomes the eleventh president in Oglethorpe's history which dates to 1835. He will be the seventh president since 1916 when the College established its current campus in Atlanta.

In making the announcement of Dr. Vonk's appointment, Robert L. Foreman, chairman of the Oglethorpe trustees, said: "We are extremely fortunate to obtain Dr. Vonk's services. He is a tested academic administrator whose wealth of experience will be of great benefit to Oglethorpe College."

The new Oglethorpe president was born on July 6, 1913 in Grand Rapids, Michigan, where he attended the public schools and Grand Rapids Junior College. He received his B.A. Degree from Calvin College in Grand Rapids in 1935 with history as his major. In 1939, he received an M.A. Degree in philosophy from the University of Michigan. He received a scholarship and graduate assistant at Duke University in 1939-41 and after World War II he continued work at Duke on his Ph.D. Degree which was conferred in 1951.

Dr. Vonk spent 15 years at the University of Miami, starting as an assistant professor in 1948 and serving as dean of the University and College from 1960-63. He was vice-president for Academic Affairs and professor of philosophy at Parsons College in Fairfield, Iowa from 1963 until 1965 when he joined the University of West Florida in Pensacola where he has been vice-president for Academic Affairs and professor of philosophy the past two years.

A member of many professional organizations, Dr. Vonk is a past president and vice-president of the Southern Society for Philosophy and Psychology, a former secretary-treasurer of the Florida Philosophical Association and chairman of the Higher Education Section of the Florida Education Association. He is a member of several honorary societies: Phi Kappa Phi, Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Eta Sigma, Kappa Delta Pi and Phi Delta Kappa.

A member of the Presbyterian church, Dr. Vonk has been a very active participant in campus and community religious groups.

He is co-author of "Introduction to College," published by Allyn & Bacon. He has written numerous book reviews and special papers.

Dr. Vonk is married to the former Idalee Wolf and they have two children, Claire, 18, a sophomore at Tulane and Paul Kenneth, 13, an eighth grader. Mrs. Vonk is a celebrated author of many books and other publications in the field of religious education and children's literature.

Dr. Paul R. Beall Resigns Oglethorpe Presidency

DR. PAUL R. BEALL, president of Oglethorpe College, has resigned effective May 31.

Having served as the College's chief executive since October of 1964, Beall will return to his chosen field, that of aerospace consultation.

In formally submitting his resignation to the trustees, Dr. Beall stated: "Working with you, we have, in a short time revitalized the College, started new buildings, and developed a master plan for one of the nation's best independent Arts and Sciences Colleges. Let us continue our faith and work in assurance that Oglethorpe will come to its destined excellency. I know that it will."

Under Beall's administration, Oglethorpe has grown from an enrollment of 325 to the present 900 students. A building program was instituted and new dormitory facilities and a student union building are currently under construction. The school also adopted the trimester system and strengthened its faculty.

Robert L. Foreman, chairman of the Oglethorpe trustees stated: "We will always be indebted to Dr. Beall for his untiring efforts in behalf of Oglethorpe. The growth program that he instituted will be carried forward in the years to come. On behalf of the trustees, I would like to thank Paul personally and wish him well in his future endeavors."

Remember?

The scene: Alumni Day, 1966
Senator Herman Talmadge is shown addressing the group assembled for groundbreaking ceremonies of the new dormitories and student union building.

This year, alumni will be able to visit the nearly completed dormitories and see the progress made on the student union.

Paul Rensselaer Beall

SHORTLY AFTER THE exodus of a president, his administration is given a tag.

Dr. Paul R. Beall will probably be remembered as the "building president" at Oglethorpe.

During the almost three years of his presidency, Dr. Beall fought for, guided and watched with interest the progress of the dormitory complex and the new student union building. The dormitories are nearing completion and hopefully will be ready for occupancy this fall. The student union will be finished in 1968.

Paul Beall leaves Oglethorpe on May 31 to continue his career in writing and consulting. He has made his mark at Oglethorpe and he will long be remembered as "the man who revitalized the College." Beall was urgently concerned about the master plan for the college and the architectural conceptions to support the plan. He thoroughly agreed with Mr. Justice Holmes that "We need education in the obvious more than in investigation of the abstruse." Not a reactionary, he enjoys Mencken, Thurber, Runyon, Graves, and Steinbeck to mention a few. He likes to visit artist friends at Big Sur. He has been adamant however, in his quest to keep the new buildings in the architectural style of Old Oglethorpe. This he has managed to do.

A firm believer in private education, Beall dreamed of a school that would be one of the best in America. He wanted 2,000 students eventually. There were 325 on hand when he came, now Oglethorpe nears 900, almost half-way to the Beall formula.

Beall dreamed of a superlative faculty and added many new Ph.D.'s . . . enough to rank Oglethorpe with the highest percentage of these distinguished fellows in Georgia and one of the best in the South.

The campus took on a new look under Beall's administration. The grass got greener, the rooms were painted (with the exception of woodwork), the faculty and staff offices were improved, new student facilities and recreation areas were made available and the rusty coke box in front of Lupton was carried to the junk heap. In fact, cobwebs became a rarity instead of an everyday thing.

The challenge of Oglethorpe did not ruffle Beall's crusty Iowa mien. He responded magnificently the best way he knew how . . . by taking action. He has what the Scotch call "a touch o' class," the kind of thing Adlai Stevenson had, and Arnold Palmer and Charlie Chaplin—a touch of class which gives grace to work.

Paul Beall started something that the new administration, Trustees, President's Council, faculty, students and alumni will have to continue. The challenge is now ours.

In submitting his resignation to the Trustees, Dr. Beall said: "In the present changing patterns (growth patterns) at Oglethorpe College, Helen and I hope that we have your understanding and good wishes; we cherish them, as also we cherish the College."

In his inaugural address, Dr. Beall concluded with remarks Daniel Webster once stated: "It is, sir, a small college. And yet, there are those who love it."

We might paraphrase the ebullient Mr. Webster in a summation of the Beall regime: "It is, sir, a much improved college. And there are those of us who will always remember you."

"Our cultural heritage is the lasting traditional and conventional. Most every contemporary thing is incessantly on trial to see if it will be good enough to become traditional."

"I know the merit of much contemporary structural technic that is economical. Certainly we must use the sensibly-indicated modern materials components and fabricating methods. Too frequently, however, a quick-and dirty method proves to be cheap and so is adopted as vogue. Example: it is quite the thing nowadays in painting a room to, by jiminy, paint it. Blind labor is satisfactory. Paint being selected, walls, woodwork, light and switchplate, picture moulding, window frames, doorknobs, lockplates and key are painted. A cat walking in on such a paint job does so at his peril. The ultimately cheap paint job. Half of the beautiful rooms in Old Oglethorpe have been so painted. We have restored some of them and hope to rescue others."

"The indomitable men who built the Cathedral of Chartres might have built a hundred lesser churches and contributed insignificantly to architecture and Christianity."

Tommy Norwood Joins Oglethorpe Coaching Staff

TOMMY NORWOOD is the new Oglethorpe baseball coach and assistant basketball coach.

An ex-Oglethorpe athlete, Norwood is considered by many to be the greatest basketball player ever to wear a Petrel uniform.

The new Oglethorpe coach replaces John Guthrie who is the new assistant basketball coach at George Washington University.

Norwood, who played with athletic director and head basketball coach Bill Carter during the 1959 season at Oglethorpe owns practically all of the career basketball records at Oglethorpe. Between 1959 and 1962, Norwood scored 1201 points, bagged 470 field goals and averaged 12.6 points per game. All are current Petrel records. He was All-State all 4 years at Oglethorpe and was named captain of the elite five his senior year.

The 27 year old Norwood was also All-Star in baseball during his college days. He signed professionally with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1962 and played AA ball with Williamsport, Pennsylvania and Chattanooga, Tennessee the next two seasons. He was traded to Washington in 1964 and played with the Senators' York, Pennsylvania farm club.

For the past two years, Norwood has coached basketball at Clarkston High School.

An Atlanta native, Norwood is a product of Southwest DeKalb High School where he was a much sought after prep star.

In announcing Norwood's appointment, Carter said: "It will be a real pleasure to team with Tommy again. We considered several prospects but feel that Tommy's basketball and baseball savvy makes him invaluable to Oglethorpe's athletic program."

John Guthrie Named Assistant Basketball Coach at George Washington University

JOHN GUTHRIE has been named assistant basketball coach at George Washington University, in Washington, D.C.

The 26 year old Guthrie leaves Oglethorpe College where he has served as assistant basketball coach for the past two years and head baseball coach for the past year.

His duties at George Washington will be those of assistant to head basketball coach Wayne Dobbs, scouting and recruiting. Dobbs himself is a former Oglethorpe graduate.

One of the all-time greats at Atlanta's Murphy High School, Guthrie graduated in 1958 after making All-State in basketball and playing in the All-Star basketball and baseball games.

Guthrie received his BA in Secondary Education at Oglethorpe in 1962, and lettered in basketball and baseball. He coached the Oglethorpe Junior Varsity to a 9-3 season in 1962.

In 1963 he served as assistant coach at Southwest DeKalb and became head coach the following two seasons. His teams won a total of 25 and lost 20 during his two years at the school. He was assistant coach in baseball for three years at Southwest DeKalb and his teams won 26 out of 30 ball games.

Guthrie is a member of the growing roster of Basketball coaches who played at Oglethorpe under Garland Pinholster. Others are Bill Carter, head coach at Oglethorpe and Pat Stephens, assistant coach at the University of Georgia. Numerous Pinholster products are coaching High School teams in Georgia.

Walker Heads Oglethorpe All-Opponent Team

JIM WALKER of Providence, who made everybody's All-America, is the top vote-getter on Oglethorpe's All-Opponent team.

The Friar senior, who is the top pro prospect of this season, was a unanimous first team member on the ballots of the Petrel players, as was John Dickson of Arkansas State and Herb McPherson of Murray State.

Walker was instrumental in breaking the game wide open as Providence defeated Oglethorpe 74-57. The Petrels trailing by only a point at halftime grabbed an early lead in the second half at 37-32, and then Walker took command. He scored 13 of his team's next 26 points and made several assists to put the contest out of reach. The Petrels did take pride in the fact that they "held"

Walker to 22 markers, one of his season's lowest scoring efforts.

Dickson, the 6-11 Arkansas State giant scored 36 points in leading Arkansas State to an 82-81 win over Oglethorpe. Dickson made 15 out of 16 field goal attempts, his last one was the most important. With 4 seconds left, he hoisted the shot that won the game.

Murray's McPherson had 22 points and 9 rebounds as Murray stopped the Petrels 90-75. McPherson more recently showed the way in Murray's upset win over Western Kentucky.

Billy Chumbler, Murray guard and Jim Seeley, Georgia Southern forward round out the first five.

The complete All-Opponent team:

First Team

Jim Walker, Providence
 John Dickson, Arkansas State
 Herb McPherson, Murray State
 Billy Chumbler, Murray State
 Jim Seeley, Georgia Southern

Second Team

Mike Riordan, Providence
 Bryan Phillips, Valdosta State
 Dwaine Bruce, Georgetown (Ky.)
 Charlie Meisel, Belmont
 Alvin Tuttle, Georgetown (Ky.)

Petrels Conclude Fine Season

DOUG ALEXANDER scored 43 points (including 16 field goals) for a new school record. Bill Carter finished his initial season on a winning note with a winning 18-8 record.

These were the items on which the Petrel squad took stock as they polished off their last post-game meal of the season on March 2.

Chattanooga had become the final victim of 1966-67 when Oglethorpe doomed them 86-78. It was sweet revenge for Carter's Club which was upset by Chattanooga 77-76 in mid-January.

The mood was a happy one except when someone would mention the NCAA College Division Tournament. The Petrels still feel that they should have been invited for several good reasons:

Reason #1—The 18-8 mark of Oglethorpe was better than the 17-8 record posted by Stetson, who received the bid.

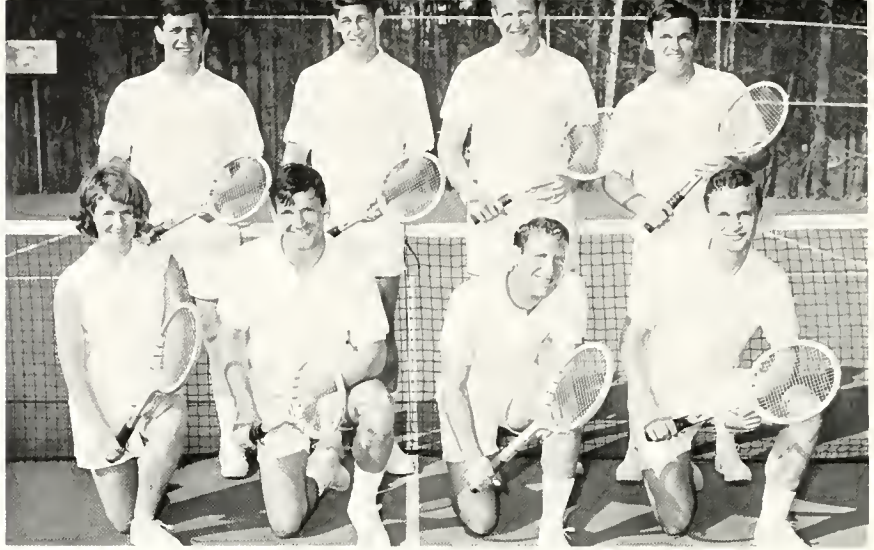

Reason #2—The tougher schedule that was played by the Petrels, as compared to the one played by Stetson.

Reason #3—The past good showings by Oglethorpe in NCAA tourney competition.

Bitterness is not an Oglethorpe trademark, however, and the Petrels will pack away the basketball equipment with an eye toward next season.

Next year should be a good one as Oglethorpe will return all of its players.

The record-breaking Alexander plus Jerry Sams and Roger Littell will be Seniors. Johnny-come-lately Mike Dahl, J. P. Bruzek, Jim Hoggarth, Earl Blair, Doug Cole and Jerry Lee will be Juniors with a good crop of Freshman hopefuls moving up to second-year status. Carter is also hopeful of nabbing some high school stars for a good freshman crop.

Oglethorpe Teams Take Spring Break

THE OGLETHORPE COLLEGE tennis team took the spring vacation break with an impressive 6-2 record.

Coach Bill Carter's swingers have lost their matches with two national powers, Georgia and Kalamazoo, and came up with impressive victories over Vanderbilt and William and Mary. They also defeated West Georgia twice and posted single triumphs over Appalachian and Chattanooga.

Mid-season statistics show that the Petrel's big four of Joe Dennis, Robbie Smith, Byron Walbeck and Robbie Danner have played exceptionally well. Dennis, who plays the number three singles spot leads the club in wins with 7 out of 8. Smith and Walbeck who have alternated at number one and number two and Danner, number four, have identical 6-2 marks.

The number one doubles combo of Smith and Dennis lost their opening match and then rolled to seven straight triumphs. Walbeck and Danner have won 6 out of 7 in their partnership.

The first female varsity athlete in Oglethorpe history, Sharon Gleason has fared well against the male competition, winning 3 of 5 outings.
